YOOTHAMURRA HOMESTEAD

Yoothamurra is situated in Oakford WA, 35 mins from Perth CBD.

Originally ran full time as a Dairy cattle farm by the Kargotich family, and started opening the gates to weddings in 2017.

We are constantly told exclusive use of the venue the whole weekend is one of the main highlights.

Incredible homestead with 7 bedrooms, it really has to be seen to be believed.

Dreamy established gardens with many photo opportunities including the famous 'tree tunnel' at the end of the driveway.

Multiple ceremony locations

20x10 marquee with full fairylight roof set amongst the trees

Can host up to 150 guests

A 'BYO' venue, which allows BYO beverages.

*Infinity's
summary*

" To explain the vibe you get at a Yoothamurra wedding in a few words would be ' relaxed sundowner'. The property is constantly kept green and manicured all year round and they hold the highest standard. We also love the one wedding a weekend rule because it really allows us to give the couples a relaxed and stress free experience. "

A man in a white suit jacket and a woman in a white wedding dress are standing outdoors, pouring champagne into glasses on a table. The man is on the left, holding a bottle of champagne and pouring it into a glass. The woman is on the right, also holding a bottle of champagne and pouring it into a glass. There are several glasses on the table, some with champagne already in them. The background shows a white lattice fence and trees with yellow and green foliage. The overall scene is festive and celebratory.
